Investment objective

The aim of the Fund is to increase the value of an investment over a minimum of 5 years through a combination of capital growth – which is profit on investments held, and income received by the Fund – which is money paid out of investments, such as dividends from shares and interest from bonds. The Fund also aims to deliver, over any rolling 5 year period, an average of inflation plus 3% per annum.

Investment strategy

The Investment Manager seeks returns by investing in companies that are focused on driving and improving ESG change and are also well positioned to grow profit and overall company value.

Assessing ESG performance

- The Fund will seek validation of its ESG credentials using an independent ESG ratings agency to assess the portfolio’s overall ESG score.
- The Fund currently uses MSCI for this assessment and a “high” ESG score should be considered as AA or AAA. MSCI methodology can be found in the useful details section (page 3).

Responsible investing framework

Ethical screening is used to avoid investing in companies that generate more than a defined percentage of revenue from certain activities including, but not limited to:

- Tobacco, Gambling services, Armaments (military weapons, equipment and civilian firearms) – maximum of 5% of revenue.
- Pornography – maximum of 3% of revenue.
- Predatory lending, Cluster munitions and landmines – 0% of revenue.
- Coal, unconventional oil or gas extraction (e.g. tar sands and shale), or coal power generation – maximum of 5% of revenue.

Performance

Collaborative Engagement Initiatives

Case study - Nature Action 100

Nature Action 100 is a global investor engagement initiative focused on driving greater corporate ambition and action to reverse nature and biodiversity loss.

With more than half of the world’s GDP reliant on nature and its services, depleting natural capital creates significant operational, regulatory, litigation, and reputational risk for investors and businesses alike, and negative economic repercussions globally. The initiative engages companies in eight key sectors that are deemed to be systemically important in reversing nature and biodiversity loss by 2030. Launched in September of 2023, Nature Action brings together 190 investor participants representing $23.6 trillion in assets under management or advice.

Investors part of the Nature Action initiative aim to drive greater corporate ambition and action in the following sectors:

- Biotechnology and pharmaceuticals
- Chemicals
- Household and personal goods
- Consumer goods retail
- Food
- Food and Beverage
- Forestry and Paper
- Mining and Metals

LGT has joined two investor teams to push for greater ambition around nature action at companies within the pharmaceutical sector and food and beverage.

Market Commentary

- After three quarters of mixed returns in equity and bond markets, both asset classes posted strong rallies over the final three months of the year. The market viewed recent inflation data and central bank communication as a signal that rates have peaked and may now need to be cut in 2024 to avoid recession.

  This was an about turn from a few months ago, when strong growth led to the very real possibility of further rate hikes. Resilient growth in the third quarter aided by a relatively loose fiscal policy meant the US economy shrugged off the Fed’s tightening, with GDP growing at an above trend pace of 5.2% annualized over the third quarter. Economic resilience led to concerns mounting over booming deficits and worries that interest rates would remain higher for longer, which sent ten-year Treasury yields surging to 5% in October for the first time since 2007.

  However, as price pressures abated over the fourth quarter, the possibility of more rate hikes faded. Softer economic data, muted price pressures and a weaker labour market boosted confidence that the hiking cycle may well and truly be over. Investors also began rapidly pricing in rate cuts for 2024. The Fed’s last meeting showed a dovish pivot with median projection that interest rates will be around 4.5% by year-end 2024, down from current levels of 5.25%. However, following the Treasury market rally in recent weeks, investors now expect an even sharper drop in interest rates, forecasting policy rates at around 4% at the end of 2024. Ten-year Treasury yields retreated to below 4% as a result, cementing a remarkable 1% drop in less than two months.

  Experience has taught us that companies that have strong balance sheets and can create value by generating cash flow exceeding their operational requirements tend to generate stronger and more sustainable returns.

  They are also usually better positioned to reinvest in their businesses and distribute earnings to shareholders. We believe these types of companies merit long-term positions in portfolios regardless of shorter-term sentiment.
